

In the group of Prof. Caterina Cocchi (Fak. V, IfP, Theoretical Solid State Physics, www.uol.de/en/est) a position for

Student Assistant (m/w/d)

is available starting from November 1st, 2020. The offered position (10 hours/week) is financed by the Federal Ministry for Education and Research for three years within a research project on battery cells in collaboration with experimental partner groups from Berlin and Munich.

The ideal candidate is studying physics, chemistry or related subjects, has interest in theoretical-computational research on material properties, possesses basic knowledge of quantum mechanics and programming (Linux environment), and is able to communicate in English (oral and written).

Prof. Caterina Cocchi and her enthusiastic team of young scientists offer an international and stimulating environment promoting teamwork and individual self-development. The group has a consolidated collaboration network in Germany, Europe, and worldwide.

If you are interested in this position, please, send immediately your application to Prof. Dr. Caterina Cocchi (caterina.cocchi@uni-oldenburg.de).

For further questions: caterina.cocchi@uni-oldenburg.de