

Dear sustainability enthusiasts,

Welcome to the 32nd edition of the newsletter that we publish as the university's climate action management team. Here you will find small reports from the university's climate action and sustainability cosmos at more or less regular intervals. If you have recently joined us (yay!), you can view the old issues on the website.

From the campus to the countryside

For the second time, we're teaming up with the Oldenburg Local Nature Conservation Authority to organise a day of action (well, an afternoon) in Gerdshorst. In this ecologically valuable landscape conservation area, we'll be tackling the invasive impatiens. If you fancy a two-hour break from the daily grind of the office or library, we'd love you to sign up. The event will take place on Thursday, 11 June, from 3 pm to 5 pm. You can find all the information and the registration form here.

Same same but different

Would you like to take part in the weeding event, but can't make it on 11 June? On 27 June, the Haarenniederung Recreation Area Association is also organising an event to remove the impatiens. The Haarenniederung area, situated between our sites in Haarentor and Wechloy, is even more closely linked to the university due to its location, even though we at Climate Action Management are not directly involved. Following the weeding, the association is also hosting a barbecue for everyone, but asks that you register in advance to help with event planning. You can find all the information here [link in German].

Information Session on Parking Space Management No. 2

We would also like to use this channel to draw your attention to the second information session on the potential introduction of a parking space management scheme. On 17 June from 10 am to 11 am, you can find out about the current status of the discussions and speak to the Executive Committee. President Prof. Ralph Bruder, Vice-President Jörg Stahlmann and we from the Climate Action Management team are happy to answer your questions and address your concerns. Further information on the measure and the event can be found here.

Mobility Forum Documentation

As part of our engagement initiative on the topic of parking space management, we hosted the Mobility Forum in March. Unfortunately, it took longer than expected, but we have now finally compiled the documentation for the event and uploaded it to the website. If you would like to find out more about the format, you can find the summary here.

With these four updates, we'll leave you until the next issue – hopefully with an update on campus bikes in the central fleet. Perhaps you might like to recommend this newsletter format to a friend or two – we'd be delighted if you did.
