OFF CAMPUS ACCOMMODATION

Shared Accommodation

Many students often choose shared accommodation where several students share a unit or house near campus. Rent for shared accommodation is typically less expensive than on-campus accommodation, and may cost between $120-200 per week. In most cases, you will have your own room but will share amenities, such as a kitchen and bathroom, with your housemates.

Students living together in shared accommodation will often have rules for inviting guests, the payment of shared utilities such as electricity and water, and the usage and clean-up of common areas. In shared accommodation, it is important that all residents of the property understand and follow the rules that have been agreed upon.

Accommodation can come furnished or unfurnished. Unfurnished rooms may be cheaper to rent, however you will need to purchase any furniture that you will need such as a bed, desk, and chest of drawers.

The Murdoch Student Guild has an accommodation database that lists rooms available for rent murdoch.studystays.com.au

Alternatively, the Real Estate Institute of Western Australia also lists available rentals around Perth reiwa.com.au/rent

Homestay

Homestay accommodation allows you to live with an Australian family while you study. In most cases, you will have your own room but share amenities such as a kitchen and bathroom. Our preferred provider is the Australian Homestay Network (AHN), and you can find more details including prices and meal plan options at homestaynetwork.org

STUDENT EXPERIENCES

Aisling Moloney, Ireland Study Abroad, Semester 1 2018

I wasn't expecting to have as good a time as I did at Murdoch. I now have friends from all corners and crevasses of the globe and memories that make me want to book the next plane back to Perth.

From the Orientation Day at Murdoch, you feel so welcomed and involved in life at the University. The group of Study Abroad students is quite small and that means you get the chance to get to know everyone. I met some really special friends during my time at Murdoch, who I intend to visit and keep in contact with. However, you don't just get to hang out with other Study Abroad and Exchange students! I found the Australian students also incredibly inviting and friendly, something that really doesn't happen at my university at home.

There are so many things that made my time in Australia so special, and most of them I did with Murdoch either on an excursion or on the mighty North West trip, which was an incredible adventure in itself.

From swimming with the dolphins in Rockingham, helicopter rides in Margaret river, to tree climbing in Karri Valley, sand-boarding in Lancelin, feeding joeys and petting Kangaroo's at PilRoc retreat. Swimming with Turtles and holding snakes in Coral Bay, to Gorge climbing in Karijini and, most importantly, eating icy poles in Tom Price. Do yourself a favour and head down under to Perth for a semester and make memories that will make you want to eternally go back.

Kyra Owensby, USA Study Abroad, Semester 2 2018

While studying abroad at Murdoch I was lucky enough to, not only explore Northern WA, but Bali, Indonesia as well. Both experiences were amazing as I was able to share them with some people that I had gotten really close to during my time at Murdoch. Although we can annoy each other to death, it's only because we have shared experiences like hiking Karijini National Park, swimming with turtles, and skilfully stealing a water bottle back from a monkey in the Sacred Monkey Forest.

Perth is a gorgeous place with so many different cultures to explore. But not only that, there's literally something for everyone in the various neighbourhoods around campus. Whether you're looking for food, shopping, adventure, beach, clubbing, or just chilling, you can find it all in Perth. Not to mention the Study Abroad program does its best to make sure us Study Abroad students have every opportunity to explore them.

Varvara Prokhorenko, Germany Study Abroad, Semester 2 2018

I loved everything about Murdoch, but the trivia nights at the Tav were for sure my favourite on-campus events.

I totally loved that I was staying at the Village, right on campus. Thanks to that I got to know so many people from all around the world and made some really good friends.

I went to Bali with my friends during the first study break and did the North West trip, organized by Murdoch for Study Abroad and Exchange students, during the second break. I totally loved both trips, but the North West trip was just a notch better. I am so glad that we had the opportunity to see a little bit of Australia's outback, I enjoyed every single minute of it. I would definitely recommend it to everyone.

All in all, Murdoch is a very diverse community that gives you the opportunity to challenge how you think, yet always allows you to stay yourself.

Carmen Nijman, Netherlands Exchange, Semester 2 2018

I loved my time at Murdoch University! If you have any problems, whatever they are, Murdoch will always help you, as everyone there is so hospitable. Another great thing about Murdoch is the trips they organise. We went on the North West Trip and that was such a great experience. We got to see so many beautiful things and it really was such special experience to share that with the people I met at university. Spending a semester at Murdoch is for sure a special memory that you will remember for the rest of your life. I'm so happy that I made the decision to Study Abroad at Murdoch!

Francis Jude Zobitz III, USA Study Abroad, Semester 2 2018

Perth truly is a hidden gem waiting to be discovered. The people are wonderful, the environment is clean, the food is unbelievable and the beaches are pristine.

At Murdoch, I loved the openness of the campus and the community that came along with it. Whether you are studying in the library, grabbing 'brekky' (breakfast) in the Student Hub, or enjoying a refreshment at the Tavern, it creates a great sense of belonging.

I have thoroughly enjoyed my time at Murdoch, more specifically, learning about other's cultures and the history of Australia. Australia is a more diverse country than advertised, which contributes to what makes the country so great.

If you are thinking of coming to Murdoch for Study Abroad or Exchange, all I can say is take advantage of every opportunity available to you, because it goes by way faster than you think!
