ATTRACTIONS IN INHA

IN-KUNG POND
JUNGSEOK MEMORIAL LIBRARY
MATCHING TREE
FLYING DRAGON TOWER, ECHO STONE

Located at the heart of the campus, the pond represents the pride of Inha University as it greets students with seasonal beauties throughout the year. The pavilion sitting at the center of the pond is a perfect place for students to enjoy gathering and outdoor outing with peers.

Jungseok Memorial Library is the best digital library in Korea featured with state-of-the-art facilities capable of accommodating all types of multi-media and digital materials. Carrying over 1.5 million books as of today, the library not only serves as platform for knowledge at this age of libraries transcending borders but also fulfills a function of convention center for international academic conferences.

The tree is reminiscent of a chair as its two branches are spread wide to each side. Campus myth says that a couple will end up marrying each other if they both sit and fit together into the tree; and the tree is now a tourist attraction since this well-known myth draws not only students but many Incheon residents to the tree.

Flying Dragon Tower and Ulimdol were constructed in 1984 commemorating the 30th anniversary of Inha University. The tower is an embodiment of the school’s symbol, Flying Dragon, and it is a popular spot for gatherings as it is easy to spot from all directions because of its height. A variety of exhibitions to appreciate poetry and photos as well as diverse events during festival are held at this location.
