

Dear sustainability enthusiasts,

Welcome to the 21st edition of the newsletter that we publish as the university's climate protection management team. Here you will find small reports from the university's climate action and sustainability cosmos at more or less regular intervals. If you have recently joined us (yay!), you can view the old issues on the website.

Same procedure as every year

As usual, we would like to invite you to take part in this year's city cycling event. You know the principle: you can enter your cycling kilometers for the university team via the app or website during the specified period. This is how we compete with other companies, clubs, institutions etc. from Oldenburg. After we unfortunately (pun intended!) had to cede first place last year, this year we hope all the more for numerous participants and collected kilometers. The period this year is from September 6 to 26. There will also be a small supporting program at the university, which we will inform you about in good time. But it's best to register for our team now, here.

After-work cycling

If you want to warm up for the city bike ride or want to cover extra kilometers in the period, we would like to draw your attention to the bike tours with the ADFC, which you can join via the university sports offer. The two-hour tour starts every Wednesday evening at 18:45 at the Uhlhornsweg sports center. You can register with the ADFC itself or via the university sports department.

Better than bulky waste

It's probably old hat that discarded furnishings can find a new home at the university via the furniture exchange of the building management in M-0-056. Since spring 2024, however, there has been a digital equivalent that allows University employees to conveniently browse the offer in Stud.IP. So, the next time you need furniture, take a look at the furniture available here.

Bookcase

If you'd rather clear out your bookshelf than its contents, you can get rid of books in the new book box in front of the canteen building in Haarentor. You may remember the converted telephone box from the library, but now you can discover books in the Mensa square or leave books there for others.

Market of the future

If you still don't know what to do with your day off on Sunday, we recommend a visit to the "Market of the Future" in Oldenburg city center. From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., many initiatives that are committed to achieving the 17 sustainability goals can be found on Schlossplatz. The university's sustainability department of the AStA will also be there. More information can be found here.

Finally, we would like to point out that we will be announcing some events in the next issue of the newsletter, so don't take on too much until then.

If you would like to forward and recommend the newsletter, we would also be delighted!

Best regards
