Objective of the module/skills:

Upon completion of the module students will be able to explain the role financial institutions play in financial markets based on economic theory. They will have a sound knowledge of institutional and regulatory conditions under which financial institutions operate today, and they will be able to critically assess respective developments in the financial sector. Moreover, they will have developed a sound understanding of how banks are managed in a competitive environment.

Content of the module:

The course is divided in two parts. The first part is a broad introduction to financial intermediation in which we will discuss theoretical foundations of banking as well as the economic, institutional, and regulatory context in which financial institutions operate today. The second part of the course consists of a business simulation in which participants manage a virtual financial institution.

Suggested reading:

- Berger / Molyneux / Wilson (Eds.): The Oxford Handbook of Banking, latest edition, Oxford University Press
- Tolkmitt: Neue Bankbetriebslehre, latest edition, Gabler
