

The Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg, Department of Business Administration, Economics, and Law, Faculty II, Chair of Economic Policy (Prof. Dr. Christoph Böhringer) invites applications for the following position, starting as soon as possible:

Research Associate (E 13 TV-L – 75%)

The contract is initially limited to November 30, 2021.

The successful applicant will work on the project "Carbon Pricing after Paris" (CarPri) financed by the German Federal Ministry of Economic Affairs and Energy. CarPri investigates the economic impacts of alternative international carbon pricing strategies to achieve the climate goals of the Paris Agreement. The project will be based on an international model comparison study under the umbrella of the reputed Stanford Energy Modelling Forum (EMF). A very appealing feature of CarPri is the international networking and capacity building on the field of applied economic analysis. Central objectives of the project are to publish excellent research in peer-reviewed international journals and provide robust policy insights to decision makers.

The precondition for hiring is an excellent University Master's degree in economics with a focus on microeconomic theory. In case of recruitment as a Postdoctoral research associate, a successful Ph.D degree in a relevant area of economics is also required. Ideally, you are familiar with numerical simulations based on computable partial or general equilibrium models. We expect very good communication abilities, the capability of working in a team and excellent English language skills. As all reports for the funding agency have to be submitted in German language, good German language skills are of advantage.

The Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg is committed to increasing the proportion of women in research. We therefore expressly invite women to apply. According to § 21 Para. 3 NHG, women will be given preference if equally qualified. Equally qualified applicants with a disability will be given preference. The position is suitable for part-time employment.

Applications with a one-page letter describing your specific interest and qualification for the position, a detailed CV (with a list of publications), contact details of 2 academic referees, and certified copies of your grades and degrees, should be sent preferably by email, stating the keyword CarPri, no later than January 25, 2019, to the Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg, Faculty II, Department of Business Administration, Economics and Law, Ms. Catharina Schramm, D-26111 Oldenburg, Germany, email: catharina.schramm@uol.de. Application and travel costs will not be covered.
